One other item for the check list, in addition to the court reporter (we had on Eloise the transcript one time), we also had a recorder with us as a back up.

Based on my recent experience with NRDA public meetings... Phil is spot on with his recommendations. I will add a couple of things that I can think of at the moment.

- 1) Be sure to ask at the end if there are any other commenters that did not fill out a card.
- 2) At the NRDA meetings we put out a neat visual timer (using an iPad) that turns colors as time runs out so that commenters have a visual cue without an actual clock ticking down.
- 3) Need to have staff at a "listening table" so that those presenting comment have someone to "address." I have done this several times now for NRDA and it is awkward but not uncomfortably so.

On the public meeting issues. I have done a number of meetings over the years here, NPDES back when we issued permits for Florida, Mountaintop mining meetings, restoration strategies, Yazoo 404(c), Everglades criterion among others. I think I have a good handle on what works and does not work and the logistics of these types of meetings.

For location, I think I have mentioned, I do not see an appearance of a conflict or independence issue with using FDEP or other public spaces. It has been very expensive to rent hotel space, and we have used FDEP, the SFWMD, Universities among other options. I think it is more a question of having a large enough room with the right equipment and we first have to decide where and how many. That is mostly a policy call, but could also be a basis for a challenge if we did not have an available opportunity for anyone in Florida.

Subject: Agenda for Tues 11 am re: FL assumption

Hi, folks –

We're mostly waiting for some updates from FDEP, so I don't have a full agenda for our 11 am meeting. I did, however, do some research on public meetings and would like to share some key bits of info and pose a few questions to the group:

Re: Location

- State offices would be OK, but other would be better for independence. Universities also OK, but consider timing re: graduation. (If request comes in mid-October, public hearings would fall in late November/early December.)
- Recommendation: look for municipal/county office.
- Facilitate participation by tribal representatives?

Listening session vs. answering questions
